Many of us are aware of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) which will become effective on 25th of May. Bearing this in mind, A+ Science is proud to present Angelika Kunnari as the company's Data Protection Officer (DPO).

DPOs are responsible for educating the company and its employees on important compliance requirements, training staff involved in data processing and conducting regular security audits. DPOs also serve as the point of contact between the company and any Supervisory Authorities that oversee activities related to data.

"I look forward to this new role and learning more about our IT infrastructure, technology and organizational structure. I also look forward in managing data protection and compliance internally." Says Angelika Kunnari.

Did you know that new research shows that dogs build a better workplace?

The new research shows that dogs and work are a good combination and can lead to a happier and more productive culture. Love from a dog could help make the job better and make you more successful.

We at A+ Science are fortunate and enjoy Django's presence at our office. Spending just few minutes with him makes everyone so happy. All studies show people performing stressful tasks do better when there's a dog around. And lower stress means lower blood pressure. Who doesn't want healthier and happier colleagues at work?

We wish all our readers a wonderful Easter holiday, enjoy those days as well as start of spring with family and friends.
